Where do we get dressed?

Ever increasing in popularity are the “getting ready” photographs of the bridal party. Both Girls and Guys are getting those precious moments captured from start to finish on their special day. So, while preparing for your day and selecting the large items such as dress, cake and location. A decision now that will take a tremendous amount of stress off of you is where you will be that morning? Where will your girls be?

Will you get into your dress at the salon or house or does your church have a dressing room to put the dress on there?

Many brides are having the "salon experience". Having all the girls in the bridal party at the same hair salon and then moving as a group to the church, where the dress and all your accessories are waiting.

Alternately, create your experience by simply delegating someone's home as the girls' spot and one for the guys. This way you can have breakfast goodies ready there in advance, your bags can be left there without worry, and cars can be left if you are leaving in a limousine or simply car-pooling together.

Keep geography in mind when choosing the locations, having the girls and guys as close as possible. This potentially keeps costs down with only one limousine, photographer, videographer and hair stylist.
